

KEEP ON WRITING!

A NEW WRITING GROUP FOR WPWP FELLOWS

Tickle your inner muse with a writing treat!

Come join us as we write together:

- Tuesdays from 5:00 until 6:30
- Cathedral of Learning, Room 501
- November 11 through December 16. (Five sessions. If we get a good response, we will offer more in the new year.)
- Come-as-you-can. No fee. No registration.

In addition to our usual format of writing together in response to a prompt, we will give each other feedback on drafts and revisions through workshops. This is a great opportunity to take our writing to another level. If you have a draft from the fall writing retreat or have work you have started but haven't revised, please bring it to the writing workshop. If you need to start writing again or want to write in community, come and write with us to prompts.

WPWP's writer-in-residence, Renee Aukeman, will facilitate these workshops. Renee is studying Creative Nonfiction in Pitt's MFA program, so she will be weaving tips on writing creative nonfiction into our gatherings. Whatever genre you are writing, you can bring it to the group (one poem per session or 3-5 pages of prose). Bring multiple copies for the group to read.

The fun will begin at 5 p.m., but you're welcome to show up around 4:30 for an extra writing prompt or individual work with Renee on something you've already written.

As you know, there are many fine eateries around if you want to pick up dinner between school and writing. The Cathedral Café and Starbuck's on the ground floor are open for quick grabs. Food is a great catalyst for writing—empty stomachs are not!

Questions? Comments? E-mail Renee at: renee.aukeman@gmail.com